

News 11.9.35

Inducting New President of B.M.A.

...case Of Judges For
News 9.9.35
B.M.A. Congress

SIR JAMES PURVES-STEWART, a specialist in nervous diseases, who arrived in Melbourne today to attend the annual congress of the British Medical Association. Sir James was consulting physician to King Edward VII.

SIR JAMES BARRETT, Chancellor of the University of Melbourne, being inducted as president of the British Medical Association by the retiring president (Dr. S. Watson Smith) at the Melbourne Town Hall yesterday. The wife of the Governor of Victoria (Lady Huntingfield) is also in the picture.

289 88 1000

News 17.9.35

A GARDEN PARTY given by the president of the South Australian branch of the British Medical Association (Dr. D. R. W. Cowan) at the Mount Osmond Country Club yesterday afternoon, was attended by distinguished medical men and other leading citizens. This photograph shows Mr. T. E. Barr Smith being received by Dr. and Mrs. Cowan, and, on the right, Dr. Francis Muecke, formerly of South Australia, who was also one of the guests.

17 SEP. 1935