Dear R.A.F.

Thank you for your letter of 5th March, and of course I will gladly support Norman Bailey's candidature for the International Institute.

I had thought of asking Gaddum whether he would be interested to join, but am beginning to feel that George Owen, Armitage, Bailey and Box provide a sufficient field for the existing British vacancies. Is this the right way to look at it?

Yours sincerely,

Edgar Fisher

P.P. I am enclosing a map for our next meeting.
