

(Judges comments on Page 4.
Garden pictures on Pages 4, 10, 22, and Back Page.)

Mr. Parker has been painting the roof when he slipped, and caught hold of the power lines.

Mrs. Bates To Write Story Of Native "Spirit Babies"

MRS. DAISY BATES with some of her portfolios.

"KABBARLI"—the native name for Mrs. Daisy Bates—is on her way back to the aborigines among whom she ministered for 35 years.

The 80-year-old Irishwoman, who has not seen her "children" for five years, left by the East-West express today for Wynbring, about 100 miles east of her old Ooldea camp, which is now occupied by a missionary body.

"One of my objectives is to complete my story of the spirit babies, which I hope to have published as a Christmas tale," said Mrs. Bates.

She explained that the natives, who do not understand the facts of birth, believe in the legend of ngargalulla. This says that under the surface of the ground at the bottom of the sea is a country called Jimbin, the home of the spirit babies. In Jimbin there is no shadow of trouble or strife or toil, only the happy laughter of the little people at play.

Fine Instead Of Funeral

PERTH, Saturday.—He missed by 18 inches what might have proved to be his funeral—and paid a fine of 5/ instead.

Save This Paper For Your Salvage Collector

nor car of Dolling
Women
five oth turned
Two Brought
They a laide
Dunstar
Dolling
—Miss
Mrs. R.
not hur
Memb
on Wed
roroo a
C.W.A.
on Thur
race me
solely b visited at Wil
way to some of this afte sored by dent occ
The c continue man and as judge
by another
Return
At Fatal
Charles
soldier,
while cy
race toda
He was the inter
a car tra
tion.
William